

Conversos: A Secret Past

Family Tree DNA Talk

Cosponsored by the Institute of Hispanic Culture

Marie Theresa Hernaández, PhD

Professor, World Cultures and Literature,
The University of Houston

For some families, identity contains a hidden surprise. One of the earliest groups of crypto Jews, or conversos, was brought to North America by Luis de Carvajal y de la Cueva in the 16th century and populated northern Mexico and southern Texas. Some abandoned allegiance to Judaism, gradually losing knowledge of their Jewish identity. Others held on to their beliefs and traditions, making modifications in forms of worship. Discover how families are uncovering centuries of secrets and redefining their cultural and ethnic identity today.

Information 713.364.6DIG
Archaeologynow.org

The Esther Scroll, Northern Italy, 18th century

Queen Esther was significant to conversos on the Iberian Peninsula. The Feast of St. Ester, honored the Jewish queen of Persia who had to hide her identity

IDENTITY

2018/2019 SEASON
51st Year Serving Houston

Archaeology Now

ARCHAEOLOGICAL INSTITUTE OF AMERICA – HOUSTON SOCIETY

P.O. Box 271062
Houston, TX 77277

Conversos: A Secret Past

THURSDAY, October 11, 2018, 7:00PM
Midtown Arts & Theater Center Houston (MATCH)
3400 Main Street, Houston, TX 77002

AIA and Institute of Hispanic Culture Members - $14.00, Nonmember Tickets - $20.00,

Tickets available by phone at 713.521.47533 or at the MATCH box office

LEARN MORE ABOUT THIS EVENT

Web www.archaeologynow.org

Facebook @ArchaeologyNowHouston

Blog www.archaeologynow-blog.com

MATCH Website: <https://matchhouston.org/events/2018/conversos-secret-past>

SIDLEY

Pennebaker

MFA H

theHoustonMuseumofnaturalscience